Gardening for Everyone

September 19, 2009 ~ 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Pruning and Post Harvest Fruit Tree Maintenance      9:00-10:30      Room 103

This presentation by Keith Underwood, a Thurston County Master Gardener, will include brief pruning, insect control and care of fruit trees for the homeowner as the cooler winter months approach. A short question and answer session will be available

Fall Vegetables & Winterizing the Vegetable Garden      9:00- 10:30      Room 105

September is a good time to think about preparing your garden for the coming year. Our own Mike Stedham, veteran Master Gardener, will discuss cleaning up, cover crops and planting fall vegetables in your garden.

Winter Garden Birds of the Pacific Northwest      10:45 – 11:45      Room 103

Join Master Gardener, Kelley Ward, for a digital visit to her garden to learn about our most common winter birds, what they eat, and how to attract them to your own garden. A suet feeder with homemade suet will be given to some lucky participant!

Winterizing the Garden      10:45 – 11:45      Room 105

What is winterizing? Why does it matter?? Some tricks to beat the cold and why some hardy plants won't survive the winter are some of the topics covered in this presentation by Katy Fraser of Raintree Nursery

Demystifying Fall Mushrooms      12:00 – 1:00      Room 103

Curious about the mushrooms you see in the fall? Gene Butler, our local mycologist, will show photos of some of the commonest fall mushrooms. The emphasis will be on edible mushrooms with a few non- edibles as well.

Growing Garlic      12:00 – 1:00      Room 105

Mark Sand, owner of Ashley Creek Garlic Farm, will amaze you with his knowledge of garlic varieties. He will share how to grow, care and use of garlic for our area.
